Shoplifter walks

Outmoded jail, illness cited in early release

RICH ADAMS
Geannie M. Buckley, a Gulfport woman serving 90 days in Hancock County Jail for shoplifting, was ordered released from jail last week after spending only nine days in confinement.

Circuit Court Judge Floyd Logan signed a court order Monday releasing Buckley from jail due to medical

Bennett named to high-level state position

Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett has been named by Governor Cliff Finch to the three-member Mississippi Employment Securities Commission.

Governor Finch, in making the appointment this month, said he had selected Bennett for the post "because of his exceptional managerial experience."

"I have full confidence in Mayor Bennett to effectively carry out the duties of this post which include the evaluation of the commission's adherence to the Mississippi Employment Security Law," said Finch.

As a commissioner, Bennett will oversee three divisions of the agency including Employment Security, Unemployment Compensation, and Finance and Service Divisions.

Fisherman's wife wages license fee crusade

By RICH ADAMS
Marie Strong, wife of Hancock County fisherman Leonard Strong, is involved in a one-woman crusade to change crab trapping license fees paid by non-residents crabs in Mississippi waters.

In a letter to various officials and agencies, Mrs. Strong quotes prices for problems, but increased a fine levied by the court in January from $250 to $500. Buckley, who has chronic diabetes and must be on a strict diet and receive insulin daily, was examined by three doctors, all of whom agreed that she should be under constant medical care.

Hancock County Sheriff Sylvan Ladner's Chief Deputy Ron Peterson said Buckley had become a problem to the Sheriff's Department.

"With her various medical problems, we had no facilities to keep her under medical care or on a strict diet as directed by the doctors," Peterson said.

"We got two doctor's opinions before taking our request to release her to Judge Logan. He recommended we get another opinion," he continued.

"We took her to Dr. John Levens, and he said without the proper medical care, Buckley could go into a coma," he added.

Peterson said he had discussed with Judge Logan on numerous occasions the problem of keeping Buckley in jail.

"I don't think it was through Judge Logan's actions that she was released, but rather through the Sheriff's Department's," Peterson explained.

According to Sheriff Ladner, Defense Attorney Roger Harris had recommended the court fine each woman $1,000 each and give them no jail term.

Judge Logan sentenced the duo to jail because the two women had prior arrests for shoplifting, said Ladner.

"With doctors' bills and two trips to the hospital by Mobile Medic, we've already spent the $500 Buckley was fined," said Ladner.

"The county would have been $2,000 better off if the Judge had fined the women and not sentenced them to jail," he added.

Harris said he had recommended the $1,000 fine for each woman because, with their medical problems, a stay-in jail would be difficult.

"Judge Logan did what he said was right," said Harris.

"But as a defense attorney, I always try to get my clients a lighter sentence," he added.

Buckley was arrested September 29, 1977, after she, Bessie Nelson and a juvenile girl, all of Gulfport, led the Waveland Police on a 100 mile-an-hour pursuit on US-90.

The trio was charged with a total of ten counts of shoplifting.

Hwy. 603 tragedy recounted

By EDGAR PEREZ
Equipped with Jaws of Life Power Rescue Tools, emergency personnel in Hancock County are convinced they would have been able to get some of the victims of the recent Hwy. 603 traffic tragedy to Hancock General Hospital alive.

"We certainly aren't speculating whether or not their lives could have been saved once at the hospital, but we are emphasizing that in future ac-

Revenue sharing public hearing slated Sept. 5

The Mayor's Office of the City of Bay St. Louis will conduct a public hearing on proposed expenditure of some $58,791 in federal revenue sharing funds during the 1978-1979 fiscal year.

City Finance Officer Kelly McQueen said the hearing is scheduled for 5 p.m. Tuesday, Sept. 5, at City Hall.

McQueen said written statements intended for the hearing record should be submitted to his office by 4 p.m. Thursday, Aug. 31. The same deadline applies to persons wishing to make application to be placed on the hearing agenda.

Persons wishing to make oral statements at the hearing may apply to be placed on the agenda by calling the City's Finance Office at 467-0068, McQueen said.

"Senior Citizen and minority groups are invited and encouraged to participate in the hearing," McQueen added.

Bridge worker survives close encounter with watery death

By RICH ADAMS
John M. Smith, who makes his living over the water as an attendant on the Bay auto bridge, should have felt very much at home last week after taking an unexpected plunge into the bay waters.

But, as it happened, Smith can't swim, and combined efforts of Bay St. Louis Fire and Police Departments and a passing boat were needed to pull Smith to safety.

Smith said he had gone to walkways beneath the bridge Tuesday to assist a friend in landing a fish when rotted wooden handrails on the walkways gave way.

NASA, Pan-Am agree on terms

Contract negotiations for support services between NASA and Pan American World Airways Inc. (Pan Am) have been completed for facility operations at NSTL.

The actual award of the contract, pending approval by NASA Headquarters, is expected in mid-September.

Pan American's Aerospace Service Division, based in Cocoa Beach, Fla., was selected by NASA for negotiations from six competitors on June 29.

Other contractors submitting proposals were: Global Associates, Oakland, Calif.; present holder of the contract; Boeing Services International Inc., Cocoa Beach, Fla.; Day and Zimmermann Inc., Philadelphia, Pa.; Holmes and Narver Inc., Orange, Calif.; and Mason-Reguard, Lexington, Ky.

The phase-over period from Global Associates to Pan Am is scheduled to begin Oct. 1, with Pan Am assuming full operation on Oct. 12.

Services covered by the contract fall into five broad categories: operation and maintenance of the NSTL real and installed property; institutional services; supply and equipment management; construction services clients time lost at the scene trying to free trapped victims will make the difference between life and death for Hancock County residents," said Chief Edward Friloux, of the Diamondhead Fire Department.

"And it's frightening to wonder who is going to be next - you?, me?, one of our children?" warned Robert Boudin, Hancock County Civil Defense director.

"I watched one of those young men die," Friloux continued concerning the Hwy. 603 crash situation, adding, "he was trapped in such a position that no one could reach a hand to him for almost an hour until the Gulfport Rescue Unit arrived with its Jaws of Life."

"I hate to think of a similar situation in the future when the trapped victim's only serious injury might be heavy bleeding; a situation in which simple application of hand pressure could save a life - if the victim could be reached."

The fire chief pointed out he and five other professional rescue personnel in Hancock County are certified Emergency Medical Technicians, highly trained to lend life-saving assistance to victims at the scene of an accident.

"But we often find ourselves helpless when a victim is trapped in such a way we can't get to him," Friloux lamented.

"The Gulfport people are the only ones south of Hattiesburg with that equipment. The next closest one is in New Orleans," the fire chief stated.

In an effort to prevent a repeat of the virtually helpless situation in which they found themselves on the night of the Hwy. 603 wreck in which five young Bay St. Louis men died, emergency personnel in Hancock County have

Civic group to sponsor Telethon

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The Waveland Civic Association will again sponsor Jerry Lewis' Labor Day Telethon to benefit the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

The Telethon will begin at 5 p.m. Sept. 3 and run until 6 p.m. on Sept. 4, according to Jimmy Lagasse, association president and drive coordinator for Hancock County and Henderson Point-Pass Christian areas.

The association in conjunction with WVUE, Channel 8, New Orleans, had pledged totaling $1,765 plus $900 in a fish bowl.

Lagasse has set a goal of $10,000 for this year. Pledges can be made by calling 467-4134, 467-9249 or 467-9249 during the Telethon.

Jerry Lewis, MDA national chairman, will host the 21 1/2 hour program, broadcast from Del Webb's Sahara, Las Vegas. The Muscular Dystrophy Telethon, the first major special of the 1978-79 season, will be aired coast-to-coast by some 240 stations across the nation.

The show will be aired locally over WVUE-TV, Channel 8, beginning Sunday, September 3, at 10:30 p.m. and continuing until 5:30 p.m. Monday, September 4.

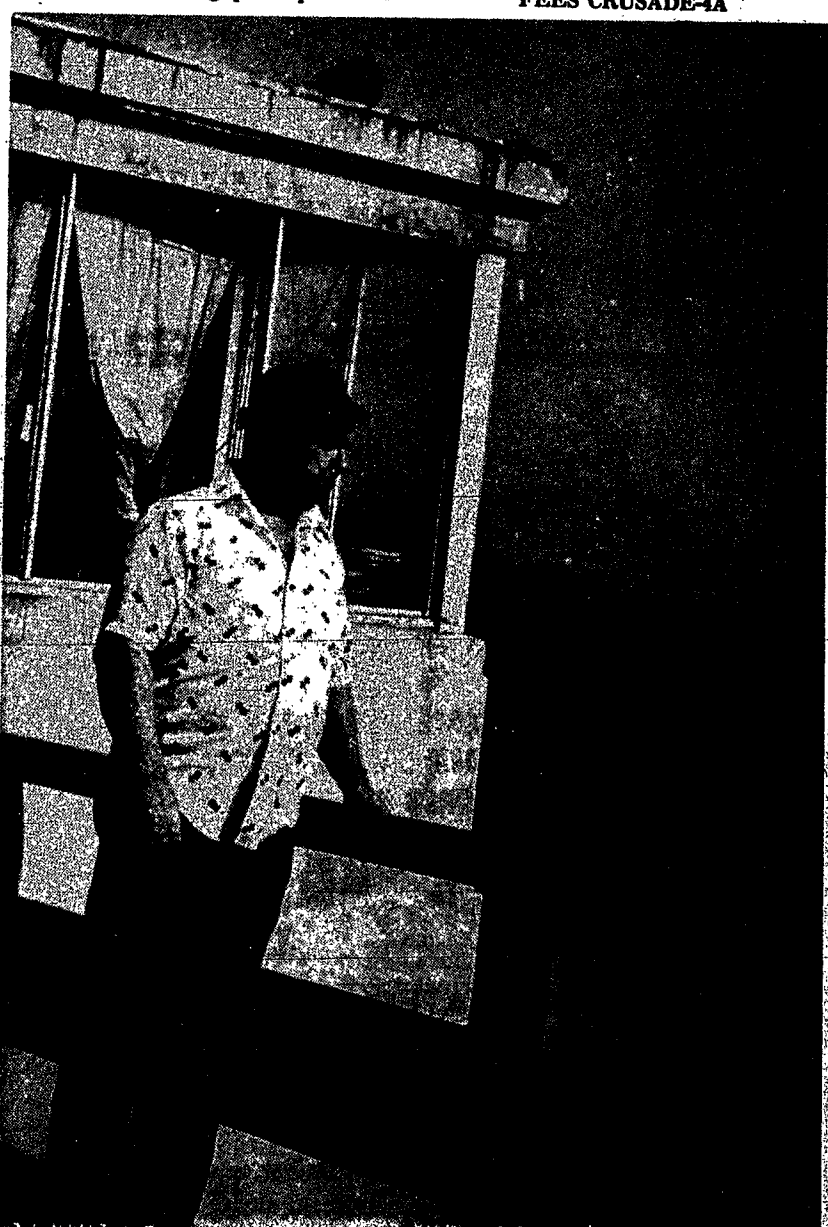

Local segments will be broadcast live from The New Orleans Hilton for the first time. Viewers in the Channel 8 viewing area contributed over $612,466 to last year's record-breaking national total.

Lewis has assembled a roster of the nation's most popular TV movie, stage and concert stars to appear on the 13th annual broadcast of the Telethon.

He also expects strong support from the nation's political, labor and business leaders, as well.

Just then, a boat came by and the driver realized a rescue was in progress and offered assistance," the

OLG Nuptial Mass unites Marochino and Powell

Our Lady of the Gulf Church in Bay St. Louis was the setting for the marriage of Barbara Ann Marochino and Vernon Cole Powell at a 7:30 p.m. Nuptial Mass on Saturday, August 19.

The double-ring, candlelight ceremony was performed by Reverend Monsignor Gregory Johnson of Biloxi.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph L. Marochino of Bay St. Louis, and the groom is the son of Mrs. Odean H. Powell, also of Bay St. Louis.

Arrangements of white tulle, carnations and greenery decorated the candle-lit main altar, with palm greenery and standing gothic candelabra completing the setting in the sanctuary.

Music for the nuptials was provided by Mrs. John McKenna, organist, with Ms. Debbie McArn, soloist, singing special selections of "The Wedding Song," "The Lord's Prayer," and "Ave Maria."

Reading from scriptures was Daniel DeGuire of San Antonio, Texas; brother-in-law of the bride. Presenting the gifts were John, George and Cindy DiSimone of Elmhurst, Illinois; cousins of the bride.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a flowing gown of silk organza over peau-de-sole along princess lines. Seed pearl trimmed appliques of alencon lace embellished the bodice which featured a pearl-embroidered cameo centered in a yoke of English Net, natural lace collar and short lace sleeves.

She wore a fingertip veil of illusion, featuring appliques of pearl-embroidered alencon lace in a mantilla effect. She carried a cascade of silk gardenias, sweetheart roses, lilies of the valley and fuchsia interspersed with ribbon and tiny pearls.

Proceeding down the candlelit aisle, escorted by the groomsmen, were attendants Paula Kundert, cousin of the bride of Westchester, Illinois; Mrs. Brett Matthews, Jackson, MS; Beverly Ogden, New Orleans, La.; and Terri Murtagh, Patricia Dickinson, Kathy Webb, and Mrs. Dave Richardson, all of Bay St. Louis.

Matron of honor was Mrs. Daniel DeGuire, sister of the bride, of San Antonio. Mrs. DeGuire's daughter, Laura, was the flower girl. They wore blue chiffon gowns.

topped with a chiffon capelet, bordered with satin ribbon, and carried single stem white roses, trimmed with blue baby's breath and decorated with deep blue velvet streamers.

Laura DeGuire, flower girl, wore a full-skirted gown of princess lines and wore a corsage of pale pink camellias.

Arrangements of white and blue flowers decorated the skirted reception tables. The bride's table held a five-tier cake decorated with white sugar spun roses and topped pale blue daisy printed crystalet, featuring a ruffled collar, and carried a basket of blue daisies, white wild roses, with blue ribbon streamers. She wore matching flowers in her hair.

Attending the groom as best man was his brother, Delma Powell Jr., of Waveland. Groomsmen were James Fine and David Trelles of Waveland; Ricky Geoffrey, Tim Favre, David McDonald Jr., Dale Lelacamp, and Mike Favre, all of Bay St. Louis.

Ushers were Steve Wheat of Waveland, and Chellie Smith of New Orleans.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the Waveland American Legion Home. Mrs. Marochino chose for the occasion a gown of sapphire blue, with pale blue floral chiffon capelet overlay and wore a corsage of white roses with blue fuchsia. Mrs. Powell wore a long-sleeved gown of coral pink along with an engraved gold Christogram. Arrangements of white and blue flowers in gold candelabra were on either side.

Keeping the guest register were Misses Cindy DiSimone and Laura DeGuire.

For a honeymoon destination in Florida the bride wore a burgundy tiered neyesta jersey dress. Upon their return, the newlyweds will reside in Hattiesburg.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. George Geary, Mrs. John DiSimone and children John, George and Cindy, of Elmhurst, Illinois; Mrs. Leonard Capozziello of Niles, Illinois; Mr. and Mrs. Michael Calabrese, of Westchester, Illinois; Mr. and Mrs. George Kramer of Gulfport; Mrs. Jim Kramer of Long Beach; and Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Hartfield, Lucedale.

South Mississippi Women's programs to be studied

A planning session for programs on and for women in south Mississippi has been scheduled for Sept. 21 at the University of Southern Mississippi.

Project director Anne Jordan said the purpose of the on-day program is to provide a forum for the exchange of information and ideas on the needs, problems and challenges faced by women in society today.

The meeting will include humanitarians, educators and other citizens from various areas of south Mississippi.

Jordan, associate dean of students at USM, said two consultants, in addition, who are presently involved in women's programs, will provide information on creating programs that may meet the needs and issues that are voiced by persons from this area.

It is noted that the marked change in the status and roles of women have produced challenges for women and men that are new and pressing.

The project director, who will be assisted by coordinator Beverly Maddox, said session consultants include Elizabeth Meese of the University of Alabama and Susan Gore of Texas Christian University.

Participating humanists are Thomas Panko, Karen Austin and Peggy Preshaw, all of USM; Jan Lewis of Mississippi State University and fellow for the Center for Women in Politics at Rutgers University and Deborah Gambrell of Hattiesburg.

Members of the host committee and the University Committee on Services and Resources for Women include Jordan, Sylvia Edwards, Charlotte Tullos, Louise Baker, Sarah Lehrer and Maddox.

The planning session is being made possible by a $743 grant from the Mississippi Committee for the Humanities.

Dixie Lee Davis, Michael Lee Bradfield wed in garden rites

The garden of the Roger Davis home, Blue Meadow Road, Bay St. Louis, was the setting Friday evening, July 28, for the wedding of their daughter, Dixie Lee, to Michael Lee Bradfield, Pass Christian, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bradfield of Pittsburg, Pa.

Mayor Larry Bennett performed the double ring ceremony. An arch decorated with greenery, wedding bells and white flowers beneath a large oak tree formed the background for the bridal party.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of chiffon over satin with a short veil trimmed with lace. She carried a bouquet of white daisies and roses interspersed with blue ribbons.

Miss Sheri Davis attended her sister as maid of honor and Mr. Bradfield was his son's best man.

The maid of honor wore a floor length blue gown with a chiffon cape and carried a single long stem white rose.

The mother of the bride chose a floor length green knit dress with a corsage of matching silk flowers. The mother of the groom wore a long pink dress and a matching silk flower corsage.

Assisting at the reception following the ceremony were Mrs. Melvin Burge, Mrs. Buck Strong, Mrs. Robert Boudin, Mrs. Frank Taconi, Mrs. Pat Bourgeois, Mr. and Mrs. Hugo Favre, and Bert Padgett, all of Bay St. Louis; Mrs. Kenny Stieffel, Harahan, La.; Bobby Ladner, Kiln, Miss.; and Gary Stephen, Kenner, La.

Women's sweat shirts recalled

In cooperation with the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, Huk-A-Poo Sportswear, Inc., has announced a recall of some women's sweat shirts that may not have met federal flammability standards. The garments had been imported from a Hong Kong manufacturer.

The garments in question were distributed to retailers between July 1976 and September 1977. It is estimated that 30,000 garment have been sold nationwide. To date no consumer injuries have been reported.

The garments are long sleeved, 100 percent cotton and can be identified by the number RN 2104 and the words "Made in Hong Kong" on the label. Further identification data includes the style numbers, 502, 506, 507, 509, 619, 620, 621, 623 and 624 which appeared on the garment's hang tags.

Consumers who have purchased these garments can return them to the place of purchase for repayment or credit. Any questions from the consumer should be directed to the Customer Service Department, Huk-A-Poo Sportswear, Inc., 48 West 38th St., New York, N.Y. 10018.

Consumers can also call CPSC's toll-free hotline at 800-638-2886; in Maryland call 800-492-2337. Deal persons who have TTY's can contact the hotline by dialing 800-638-2886.

Wilkerson is freshman at Um Dental School

William Collins Wilkerson of Bay St. Louis is among 45 students who expect to enroll as freshmen in the School of Dentistry at the University of Mississippi Medical Center
this month.

UMC registration is Aug. 28-29, and classes begin Wednesday, Aug. 30.

Wilkerson, the son of Mrs.
Henrietta Chapel Wilkerson, did his undergraduate work at the University of Mississippi.

The American Dental
Association Council on Dental Education, the accrediting group for the nation's dental schools, gave the UMC school permission to enlarge the 1978-1979 first-year class by 10, according to Dr. Wallace V.
Mann, dental school dean.

Last year the school admitted 35 freshmen.

The 1978-79 session marks the first year for four dental classes to be enrolled at the Medical Center. The dental school admitted its first students in 1976; next spring, those students expect to be candidates for the first dental degrees awarded in Mississippi.

TIME FLIES!

Are you like millions of other Americans who can't quite believe that summer is passing so quickly? Wondering how you're going to get everything done that you've planned? There are too many fun activities to spend hours in the kitchen, you say. Don't despair!
With this easy recipe, you can whip up a satisfying main dish in minutes. Serve it with a tossed salad, crusty bread, fruit and cheese. What could be easier!

SAUSAGE & NOODLES

NAPOLI
1/2 pound sausage links, cut in 1-inch pieces
1/2 pound Italian sausage, cut in 1-inch pieces
1 can (about 4 ounces)
sliced mushrooms,
drained
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 can (10 1/2 ounces)
Campbell's Condensed
Onion Soup
3/4 to 1 cup water
1/2 cup chopped canned tomatoes
2 cups uncooked fine
noodles
1 package (10 ounces)

Only 12 years ago

When you think back, 12 years ago wasn't a very long period. In 1966 there were only two fire departments, one paid and the other volunteer in Hancock County, excluding NSTL. The equipment consisted of four pumpers and only three firemen were paid.

We can well remember when there was only one fire department, and we were associated with the second one when it came into being.

We look at the fire departments in Hancock today, three paid, five volunteer, one volunteer group probably meeting requirements this year and another getting started.

In equipment, there are 20 engine pumpers, a total of 18 paid firemen, and over 180 volunteer firemen who respond to calls.

In addition, Hancock County now has two rescue units, six personnel who are Emergency Medical Technician course grads, and four Red Cross Advanced Emergency First Aid Care people who are all firemen.

In the field of Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation, there are about 20 instructors in Hancock of which six are in the fire service.

We can remember, not so many years ago when one of the two fire companies could not cross boundary lines to fight a fire. People out of the city limits (that was before annexation) had no fire protection whatsoever.

In 1971 Hancock County was the first county in the state to have a written mutual aid agreement among all fire departments.

In the field of other firsts for the state in fire and rescue, Hancock was the first in Civil defense to have an all-weather alert system throughout the county.

In 30 days Hancock will also have another first in the area with a Red Cross Disaster services unit. Hancock also was the first county in the state to have a county-wide communications system with a back-up.

Fire units throughout the county receive funds from various sources, some from the Board of Supervisors in revenue sharing, state insurance rebates, and the paid departments through tax structures. The many volunteer units depend heavily upon fund raising events.

In addition to the mutual aid among the county fire departments, there is also a mutual aid agreement with NSTL, Slidell, Pass Christian, Picayune, Long Beach and Gulfport.

The paid units in Hancock are Bay St. Louis, Diamondhead and Waveland.

The volunteer units are Bay Side Park, Clermont Harbor, Kiln, East Hancock, and West Hancock almost qualified as a recognized volunteer unit and Leetown just getting started.

Firemen, the paid and volunteers, should all be congratulated on their fast growth in Hancock County.

The political leaders, businesses, and friends who have helped these fire departments in their growth should be given a big thanks. Let us not forget the ones who helped in the fund raisings by working or participating in spending money.

Like the famous slogan "We've come a long way baby," Hancock County fire fighting has come a long way in a very short time.

Our firemen all realize they still have a long way to go to reach the top; they are going all out to attain this goal, and they do need a little help.

There is a drive on right now for the purchase of "Jaws of Life" rescue equipment. Would you believe, such equipment could have been used a total of four times in the past two short months, according to a spokesman for the fire departments.

Help our fire and rescue people continue to improve their services to the people of Hancock County.

The next time you visit your bank, whether it be Gulf National, Hancock or Merchants, leave a check for the "Jaws of Life" fund; it is tax deductible.

and installation services.

NSTL Pan Am Project Manager Bob Gorham said, "We earnestly solicit Global employee applications and look forward to talking with them about the advantages of coming with Pan Am, or one of our subcontractors, in continuing these important support missions at NSTL."

A temporary recruitment office geared to staff the operation is located in a trailer adjacent to Building 8201, and will be open from 7 a.m. to 6 p.m. weekdays.

Applications are now being accepted and interested persons will be scheduled for interviews during the next few weeks.

"We are moving toward our goal of staffing, and will keep people informed," Pan Am will be bringing in 10 key people from other projects, and approximately 90 percent of the staffing requirements will be from the incumbent Global employees," Gorham said.

Two main operating subcontractors have been selected by Pan Am. Security Services will be subcontracted to a small business, Capital Securities of Jackson; and Site Maintenance to Bennie Williams Inc., a minority firm from Gulfport.

Letters to the Editor

Visitor impressed by Projects

Sea Coast Echo
Bay St. Louis

Gentlemen:

Just recently I had the pleasure of visiting my birthplace, Biloxi, and other areas on the Gulf Coast from New Orleans to Mobile while on vacation last month.

Before leaving Chicago, however, one of the Associate Editors of "Dollars Sense," a midwestern publication, hearing of my intention to be on the Gulf and knowing of my deep and fervent interest in photography, asked me to do a photo portfolio on the Coast area for possible publication at some future date. I, of course, was more than willing to oblige. A copy of a recent publication is enclosed with a story on us beginning on Page 44.

My point in writing this letter is to commend the people of the Bay St. Louis Housing Authority for the super neat appearance of the units as they look to passerby. There's no litter, no clutter and the neat manicured appearance they present is impressive indeed.

A few pictures are enclosed that were taken by me to document my conclusions that private developments and units costing two and three times more in the midwestern and near east are would be hard pressed to equal the quality appearance the Housing Authority of Bay St. Louis presents.

Good Luck to you, your town, and the people in it who keep it looking nice.

Sincerely yours,
Roy Byrd

April 30, 1978 until the work is completed and accepted."

Port and Harbor Commission Director W. W. Webre said the EDA, a federal agency funding the improvements, is "getting a little impatient to move on with construction."

"Shaw was delayed because of rainy weather and poor soil conditions, but the roadwork was completed today," Webre said Tuesday.

"We just inspected the road, and except for a few 'cats and dogs,' the road is done," he added.

Webre was referring to a minor punch list of additional finish work yet to be done to the road.

Webre said no penalties would be put on Shaw for the delay in completion.

School speed laws back in effect, Chief warns

With school in its initial stages for the 1978-79 year, Bay St. Louis Police Chief Douglas Williams has warned school zone traffic laws will be rigidly enforced for the protection of student pedestrians.

"Lots of children are congregating on the streets in the mornings, and other children are walking to and from school," Williams said.

"Drive carefully and observe all 15 and 25 miles-per-hour speed zones," he urged.

"Students driving to and from school should leave home early enough so you won't have to rush. You will be checked by radar and unmarked police cars," Williams warned.

"The Police Department has already received calls complaining of irresponsible motorists speeding through those areas," he continued.

"Again, I am imploring the people of Bay St. Louis to cooperate with their Police Department and think of those children, one of whom could be yours," Williams added.

"Various complaints have been reported to this office already concerning students ignoring speed limits in school areas," he said.

A flashing school zone warning light on US-90 at Dunbar Avenue resumed operation last week, and will be in effect between 7:30 and 8:30 a.m. and 2:30 and 3:30 p.m.

"Thank you for your immediate cooperation and your concern for the safety of our children," Williams concluded.

Punt, Pass & Kick signup on at Charlie's

Registration for boys and girls in the Punt, Pass and Kick competition is now underway at Charlie's Ford, Bay-Waveland.

Youngsters from the ages of 8 to 13 can register for the competition until September 29.

This is the 18th anniversary of PP&K sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America. There is no entrance fee and no body contact during competition.

Scoring is based on accuracy and range with one point added for every foot of punting, passing and kicking distance, and a point subtracted for every foot off a center line.

"Participants in the Punt, Pass and Kick program compete against others their own age."

merchandise, believed to have been taken from Hancock County supermarkets, was in possession of the three women when police searched their car.

Bay merchants took Buckley and Nelson to court before City Judge Joseph Benvenuti on October 12 of last year, and Benvenuti dismissed the charges due to lack of evidence.

The women then appeared before Waveland Judge Lucien Gex on similar charges on October 13, 1977, and were bound over to the grand jury on testimony of eyewitnesses.

Buckley and Nelson were sentenced to five year's confinement in the state penitentiary by Logan after their appearance before the Hancock County Circuit Court in July, which sentence was suspended to four year's probation, a $250 fine, and 90 day's in the county jail.

Nelson received the same sentence, but execution of the 90 day jail term was delayed by Judge Logan to allow Nelson to recover from eye surgery, Peterson reported.

The sentence will be carried out when Nelson recovers from the surgery.

Peterson said Buckley, even though released from County Jail, remains on the four-year probation.

fireman reported.

"So, we only had to lift Smith high enough to get him in the boat," he added.

The boat, operated by Ray Perrillaux of Metairie, La., transported Smith to safety at the Bay Waveland Yacht Club.

"I really want to thank that guy," Smith said, referring to Perrillaux.

"I have his address, and I think I'll send him a Christmas card or something," he added.

"I want to thank everybody involved in the rescue operation," Smith said.

In addition to the fisherman and Perrillaux, Assistant Bay Fire Chief Andrew Lizana, Lizana's son Guy, Lt. Richard Pate, Fireman San Filippio, Ronald Cuevas, Alfonz Sheppard, Volunteer Fireman Martin Walls, dispatcher Ann Peneguy, and Bay Police Investigator David Sells were on the scene assisting in the rescue.

Diamondhead Rescue was on the way to offer assistance, a Bay Fire Department spokesman reported.

"The water was nice and warm," Smith said.

"But I just can't swim. I like to be where my feet can touch bottom, Smith said.

Smith added the man on the bridge never landed the fish.

started a fund drive to purchase three Jaws of Life units for this area.

Collection stations for the fund have been set up in offices of the county's three banks: Hancock, Gulf National and Merchants.

The Hancock County Firemen's Association and Hancock County Mutual Aid group are conducting the fund drive, Friloux and Boudin explained.

The Jaws of Life Power Rescue Tool, manufactured by the safety products division of Hurst Performance, Inc., of Huntingdon Valley, Pa., cost some $4,600 each.

"Our budgets are strained to the breaking point, we just don't have the kind of money it will take to secure this badly needed equipment," Friloux said in explaining the firemen's request for help from the general public.

"The Supervisors do all they can for us, and I can honestly say I think we have really stretched every buck we've been able to get our hands on from the taxpayers and from our own fund-raising projects," the chief continued.

The firemen hope initially to place a Jaws of Life unit in fire engines of Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Diamondhead Fire Departments.

"So we're looking at at least $14,000 to start with," he explained. "Ideally, we hope to have this kind of rescue equipment in every fire station in the county," Friloux added.

In its advertising material, the Hurst company describes their products as "...Jaw-like devices with twin-forged arms that can pull or lift six tons to free a trapped victim. In use, the Jaws open to a full 32 inches under full load in only 40 seconds."

Hurst also notes "These quiet operating rescue tools are flameless and do not employ grinding wheels or saw blades. They are performance tested and ideal for rescuing the shock-prone victim."

In addition to the full-time, paid fire departments of Bay St. Louis, Waveland and Diamondhead, the Hancock County Firemen's Association is composed of members of the Bay Side Park, Clermont Harbor, Kiln, East Hancock, West Hancock and Leetown Volunteer Fire Departments. Those departments are also parties to the Hancock Mutual Aid agreement, Friloux noted.

300-trap limit per boat.

Residents pay $35 for 300 traps in Louisiana, while non-resident permit fees are $50 for 300 traps, which Mrs. Strong claims is not fair.

In her letter, which went to Governor Cliff Finch, Dr. Richard Leard, director of Mississippi Marine Conservation Commission, and J.P. Compretta, Hancock County state representative, Mrs. Strong says, "We therefore feel the license fees for out-of-state fishermen should be assessed according to what Mississippi fishermen must pay when they go out of the state of Mississippi."

"Louisiana charged $25 for non-resident crab fishermen in 1977, and said they had reduced the price," Mrs. Strong continued.

"A lot of fishermen read an article in trapping, and taking the crab back to Louisiana to sell at an enormous profit," she explained.

Dennis Chew, assistant to Dr. Leard at the MMCC, said bills to get the price of Mississippi non-resident licenses raised have failed in State Legislature in past years.

"Raising prices on crabbing permits has been proposed several times in State Legislature, but has never been passed," said Chew.

"We're going to try to raise prices again this year on all licenses, but most notably on non-resident crab licenses," he added.

Chew said he believes the Mississippi crab license law dates back to the 1930's or 1940's.

Mrs. Strong says when she and her husband moved to the coast 11 years ago, she was attempting to get the necessary legislation passed to raise the license fees for out-of-state fishermen, and is trying to enlist the assistance of the Hancock County Fisherman's Association.

Hawks pluck Eagles clean

By ELLIS CUEVAS
The Hancock North Central Hawks defeated the St. John Eagles 26-8 Friday in Hawk stadium.

The Hawks scored twice in 48 seconds of the second quarter to take control of the game after a rugged first quarter.

Hawk halfback Greg Ladner scored on a three yard run with 1:02 left in the second quarter. The Hawks kicked-off and on the first play from scrimmage, in a mixup the Eagles fumbled and John Hamilton recovered on the Eagles 28. Quarterback Vincent Adams on the first play scored on a 28 yard keeper.

Jessie Dramie converted after the two second quarter scores to give the Hawks a 14-0 lead.

Greg Ladner scored again in the third quarter over tackle on a 22 yard burst giving the Hawks a 20-0 lead with 7:38 left. Adams scored on a eight yard keeper with 3:07 remaining in the third quarter. Conversion tries for the last two Hawk td's missed giving the Hawks a 26-0 lead.

St. John's only scoring came in the fourth quarter on a pass from quarterback Karl Funk to Mark Villarreal with 3:30 left in the game. A two point pass conversion by Funk was good. The Eagle scoring made it 26-8 in favor of the Hawks.

As the whistle sounded the end of the contest, Hawk head coach Irvin Favre commented, "I am well pleased with the performance of my team in this first game of the season."

Favre had high praise for his quarterback Vincent Adams, stating, "He was as good as he could be tonight, and did a real good job, he did what I wanted him to do."

"The Hawks were jittery in the first quarter, and played poor, but got rolling in the second," commented coach Favre.

"What we did tonight was real well, we had no injuries and were in good shape for the opening game. We tried to play a lot of people, about 30 I guess. I am glad we shut them down towards the end of the game," stated coach Favre. Workhorses for the Hawks on offense were Adams with 112 yards on eight carries, Ladner 63 yards and on two carries Willie Santiago 54 yards.

A total of 265 yards on the ground was gained by the Hawks plus 29 in the air. The Eagles gained 112 on the ground and 54 in the air.

In the first quarter the Eagles seemed to take command of the game chalking up five first downs to the Hawks one. By the games end the Hawks totaled 12 first downs to the Eagles eight.

The Hawks first score came in four plays covering 49 yards. The big gainer was a 33 yard burst around end on a last second pitchout from Adams to Santiago.

The Hawks third score was on a drive from their own 28 to start the third quarter using nine plays. Roger Cole snagged a Adams pass on a diving catch for one of the long gainers in the drive

Cole was also on the receiving end of a Adams pass in the final drive of the Hawks for their fourth score, which covered 16 yards. In the third quarter Rene Baum recovered a Eagle fumble at midfield.

In the fourth quarter, Hawk reserves got some good playing time in with sophomore quarterback Robert Devaughn calling the signals. Offensively and defensively the Hawks played a good game as a team.

Coach Favre was well please with the support in the stands for the Hawks on their opening game, "We had a good attendance tonight," he stated.

Before going to the locker room of the victors coach Favre commented, "We would be able to compete with any club. We were ready for the best tonight."

The Hawks now 1-0 will entertain O.L.V. in Hawk stadium next week and St. John plays at Long Beach.

Delta Refuge duck hunting reported good

Hunters should take a long look at hunting waterfowl this year on the 15,400 acre Hillside National Wildlife Refuge about 12 miles north of Yazoo City in the Mississippi Delta. Located just east of Thornton off Highway 49E, the new area promises some of the state's best duck hunting, according to the Mississippi Game and Fish Commission.

"Last year Hillside had some of the best waterfowl hunting of any place in the state," Refuge Manager Herbert Bell said. "From our ongoing gizzard collection study, we determined that on an average nearly two ducks per day were taken by each hunter. And this is good."

hunters must check in and out. Waterfowl hunting is permitted on the approximately 4,000 acres of wooded swamp, north of the blacktop road from Thornton east to Ebenezer.

Duck hunting will be on Monday, Wednesday and Saturday only, from one-half hour before sunrise until noon. Be prepared to have your shot

BREAD AND BUTTERFLIES — Among the instructional television series that Mississippi ETV is offering this school year is "Bread and Butterflies." The series establishes career development goals that are essential to future career choices and to an understanding of the economy. "Bread and Butterflies" can be seen at 12:55 p.m., Mondays, beginning January 23, 1979. Pictured is a scene from one of the 15 programs in the series, "Our Own Two Hands." (METV Photo)

Local funds supply mental health center

Mississippi, one of only three states in the nation to have community based mental health services in each of its counties, may possibly see its leadership role eroded due to a lack of state financial support.

Dr. W. L. Jaquith, director of the Department of Mental Health, said the community centers are needed to provide aid for the patients in their home communities, thereby reducing the load on the two state mental institutions. In 1977, the community mental health centers diagnosed and treated 36,135 clients.

A task force studying the present and future services of mental health and mental retardation centers found that Mississippi has the lowest percentage of state funds of any state in the South to support the centers - 1.1 percent or three cents per capita - most of that earmarked for the treatment of alcoholism. On the other side of the coin, local funding for these centers stands at 23.8 percent, higher than all but two states in the nation.

Rene Gonzalez, executive director of the Mental Health Association, said with that kind of community acceptance and support it is "somewhat difficult to understand why state support has been slow in coming." As a result of the four month study by the volunteer task force, the 1979 Legislature will be asked to provide $2.4 million toward the operation of the 15 regional mental health centers and their satellite offices.

Dr. Duane Burgess, a member of the State Board of Mental Health and chairman of the study group, said if the funds are not forthcoming, curtailment of services is inevitable. Dr. Burgess added that Federal grants on a decreasing basis have already run out in the Oxford and Tupelo regions. These two centers serve residents in 14 counties.

The 1978 Legislature appropriated $450,000 to the State Department for Mental Health designated for the purchase of three specific services provided by the centers. The study group praised the Legislature for its foresight, but went on to say "these limited-purpose funds help, but they do not answer the problems of a stable, long-range funding base for the community centers."

At a press conference called by the Mental Health Association to release the findings and recommendations of the study, Dr. Jaquith said that before the centers were in operation, patients would be brought to the state hospitals, cured, and then sent home where in many cases no follow-up help was available.

"Then one day you'd start making the rounds in the wards, and you started seeing the same old faces." As many as 20 percent of the state patients returned, he said. The patient load at the two state hospitals has been reduced from a high of 6,500 patients some nine years ago to 2,500 today.

"Many patients are treated in their community now on an out-patient basis or with limited hospitalization," Gonzalez said. Nearly half of the case load carried by centers last year, 15,428, were Mississippians with a weekly income of $100 or less. The mental health centers are mandated by law to provide services to everyone regardless of ability to pay. This makes it difficult to generate fees to adequately support their operations.

Every Mental Health region has a board of commissioners which is appointed by the Board of Supervisors in each of the counties in that region. Dr. Burgess noted that the study found sufficient state and local controls to see that quality services were maintained.

The old report requests the State appropriations for the centers be under the control of the State Department of Mental Health and to be made on a grants-in-aid basis.

Gonzalez said the Association with other civic groups participating, plans to take the request for funds to the grass roots level so local citizens and legislators will be fully aware of the needs in their home regions.

IRS seeks employer assistance on forms

Employers have been urged by Internal Revenue Service to take a closer look at the income withholding statements turned in by their employees in order to identify potentially false statements.

The withholding state Form W-4 must be filled in and submitted to the employer when an employee begins a new job. The form is intended to allow the employer to withhold income tax from the employee's salary in an amount which will approximate the actual taxes which will be due at the close of the tax year, the IRS said.

Generally, the amount of tax withheld from a worker's pay is reduced as the number of allowances claimed on the W-4 increases. Some employees have attempted to use this principle as a means of sharply reducing their taxes by falsely claiming large numbers of exemptions on the form. In some cases, employees have been eliminated their withholding altogether.

Other workers have falsely submitted false statements to claiming an exemption from tax withholding. Such exemptions are legally available only to employees who had no federal income tax liability last year and anticipate none this year.

Tax regulations require employers to notify the district director of the IRS when they have reason to believe an employee has submitted a false W-4.

Submission to an employer of a fraudulent withholding statement is a misdemeanor, punishable by fine of $500 and one year in prison, according to the IRS.

HARDY CLASSIC — Alan Bates stars as "The Mayor of Casterbridge" in the next "Masterpiece Theatre" presentation on Mississippi ETV. In "The Mayor of Casterbridge," Michael Hordley, the mayor, is a doomed man, his rise and fall, ironically, simultaneously charted at the moment 18 years before when he drunkenly sold his wife and child to a passing sailor.

Mystery and romance found in out-of-the-way places

There are many beauty spots and interesting places right around us in this part of the country just waiting to be discovered by those who like to get off the main roads and follow fancy's bidding.

You don't have to get in your car and take a long, tiring and expensive trip to find scenic beauty, rustic charm or intriguing mystery - just travel the infrequently used and lonely roads and trails that lead to almost hidden places and explore your own community, your own county and surrounding areas.

Letsurely travel like this can become a highly interesting adventure.

Pearl River and Hancock Counties, Honey Island and St. Tammany Parish are rich in history with many unusual and historic spots; also they are rich in nature's blessing with many streams of unrivalled beauty and a great profusion of many varieties of trees and semi-tropical growth.

On a trip of discovery a number of years ago, I turned off what is now Highway 43 North (known in history for many years as the Gainesville to Columbia road) onto the old Pool Bluff road at the old Baptist church at Henleyfield.

About a mile over on this old road I noted a little travelled woods road to my right. (A woods road is one that has not been graded or prepared for heavy travel). I turned onto this rustic road. After going only a short distance, I came to a ravine. I could hear the water splashing as in a tiny waterfall. I saw across the ravine a high bluff. I got out of my car and walked over and climbed up to this high elevation.

Before my eyes looking to the west from my mountain like view I saw the city of Bogalusa down below me across Pearl River. I have gone back several times over the years to see this rare scene.

Old Center, first county seat of Hancock County and famous Indian town 200 years ago, deserves more recognition in our local history than has been accorded it by the people of this area.

Old Center is located 11 miles east of Picayune between Catahoula Creek and Playground Branch about one mile east of present Caesar Church.

The site of this old Indian town was on a turtle back-like area gently sloping on the east to Catahoula Creek and on the west to Playground Branch, coming to a V-point where the streams come together.

It is an ideal town location, gently rolling well drained. The first Hancock County Courthouse was established there in 1817 on the hammock-like almost level land to the South.

The Indian habitations were on the wider part of the old town and the playground, famous in its day, still a little further to the north.

A group of Boy Scouts from New Orleans camped on the site of the old courthouse and county seat for many weeks a few summers ago. They surveyed, cleaned up and outlined the Courthouse location, the dungeon and a few of the old homesites.

I have not been there since the Boy Scouts established the exact location, but many years ago, approximately 45 years ago - Mr. J. A. Bilbo, who owned the land there back then, went where the old Courthouse stood.

To go there now one has to walk down through an old field, as there is no road into it. A visitor to this old town site cannot help but be impressed with the wisdom with which the Indians selected this site as their headquarters town in this whole area.

The place is now grown up in trees but there still is a distinctive air or feeling that history was made on this spot. Besides being the county seat and center for a big area of South Mississippi, Jackson's artillery division of his army on the way to New Orleans in the fall of 1814 camped there for several weeks.

The old ovens dug into the firm clay soil to provide food for Jackson's soldiers can still be seen.

The Devil's Backbone, a ravine or gorge located along the Pearl River County - Marion County line just back from Pearl River is a phenomenon without parallel anywhere else within 100 miles of the Gulf Coast so far as I know.

It is just off Highway 43 to the east. While I visited it several times years ago, I do not know its depth or width, but I have stood on the south side at probably the highest point, and looked down up on the tops of large trees.

It is wide, very deep and filled with trees and other vegetation. I'd guess it to be a mile or more long with a clear, fast running stream along its bottom which flows on into Pearl River. I have visited the place several times and always looked on with wonder and awe at the Devil's Backbone as it is called.

I think it would be a wonderful place for a state park. It would offer something not found anywhere else in all south Mississippi and Southeast Louisiana. Also, there is a high scenic bluff nearby.

There are other places of great interest in this area: Byrd's Chapel, the county seat of Pearl County during its short existence; Henleyfield, named for Jeremiah Henley who was a great friend of the French during their rule of this area, and who fought in the French Foreign Legion on Napoleon's march to Moscow. Because of his friendship and loyalty to the French he was granted a section of land on Pearl River and another tract embracing where the old Henleyfield church now stands.

The spring of clear cool water that made Henley select his homestead there still flows copiously at the foot of the hill from the old home site.

Other places worth visiting are: Rotten Bayou and Jordan River, the two most beautiful streams I've ever seen; the old community of about seven families who lived on the Hobolochitto Creek east of McNeill, now long since deserted and only signs to show habitations were once there; Mint Head, east of McNeill, the location of the Copeland Gang's mint where they made the bogus money they spent on trips to as far away as Texas and Indiana, always out running their pursuers when they were found out; old Gainesville on the high bluff of Pearl River in Hancock County and now part of the big NASA reservation, one time the biggest and most important town over a wide area with many businesses there at least three hotels, two different newspapers, county seat of Hancock County for many years. The first telegraph lines in this area ran through there.

Other interesting locations are the estate of Theodore G. Bilbo, U.S. Senator and twice Governor of Mississippi; Honey Island between the two rivers, back in the old days haven for pirates, murderers, law breakers, during the civil war, refuge for many families. There are many more, space does not allow me to detail.

Just recently, I drove over old Highway 11 through Honey Island. The swamp land timber has so encroached on this formerly much travelled highway until now the greenery of the trees form a miles long bower that almost completely shades the old road. I have seen nothing else like it.

Yes, along the streams and the roads, in the rolling woodlands and the stock farms with thousands of cattle on them there is everywhere beauty and scenic grandeur.

No, you don't have to get into your car and take a long dressome and expensive trip to find rustic beauty, recreation, restful places, quiet solitude, you can find this and more right here near home.

As for me, no foreign land, or much advertised tour has the allure the attraction of this section here embracing Pearl River and Hancock Counties, Honey Island and St. Tammany Parish.

Gulf Coast amateur radio computer meet slated in N. O.

What is probably the greatest challenge to any amateur radio operator or shortwave listener - catching the world's rarest stations - will be the major topic of the New Orleans Hamfest-Computerfest's Amacom-78 Sept. 16-17.

The annual event at the Airport Hilton Inn in Kenner, La., sponsored by three New Orleans hobby clubs, will feature a discussion of last spring's expedition to the uninhabited French Cliperton Island, some 1,900 miles southwest of New Orleans in the Pacific Ocean.

One of the 17 members of the adventure, Charles Signer of Des Plaines, Ill., whose radio call is WA9INK, will describe the week-long project of operating three amateur radio stations on the island of volcanic rock, coconut trees and crabs.

The team provided contact confirmation from one of the rarest communications spots of the world to follow radio operators around the world, according to Carroll Garvin, K5GET, program chairman.

The convention of amateur radio operators and computer hobbyists from the Gulf Coast states will be held from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday and from 8 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. Sunday. It is sponsored by the Jefferson Amateur Radio Club, the Crescent City Computer Club and the New Orleans VHF Club and approved by the American Radio Relay League (ARRL).

An engineer from Denham Springs, La., Duncan L. Carter, W5-DC, will talk on high frequency quad antennas, practical vertical antenna installation and antenna measurement on Saturday afternoon.

Home-made electronic and computer equipment will be judged in a contest at 1 p.m. Sunday, based on originality, workability, neatness and documentation. Items for the home brew contest should be delivered to Nick Tusa, K5EF, chairman.

Forums of interest to the computer hobbyist will be scheduled throughout the weekend.

The national ARRL convention next spring in Baton Rouge, La., will be discussed during a meeting of the Louisiana Council of Amateur Radio Clubs.

The Navy Military Affiliate Radio Service (MARS), which conducts daily networks to researchers in Antarctica, will meet.

One of the special concerns of amateur operators and broadcasters, the allocations of frequencies for those services through the year 2000, is likely to be a topic at one of the ARRL meetings. The frequency appointments are to be made next year at the World Administrative Radio Conference (WARC) in Geneva, Switzerland.

When the two amateur radio satellites, Oscars 7 and 8 cross over New Orleans several times daily, there will be voice and code demonstrations by Clayton Mareno, N5GJ, of Belle Chase, La., who will conduct a satellite forum.

A luau limited to 300 diners Saturday evening will feature the U.S. Navy Steel Drum Band from the Eighth Naval District headquarters in New Orleans and the Remoulade, "the barbershop quartet with the New Orleans flavor." Banquet reservations must be made before Sept. 14.

Hobbyists wishing to get rid of extra equipment may participate in the flea market. A number of home-made items will be offered at the Ladies' Boutique, managed by Mrs. Julie Newchurch, W5BPN.

The latest equipment will be available to convention guests from the numerous commercial exhibitors.

Upgrading tests for amateur radio operators will be conducted at 8 a.m. Sunday by the New Orleans field office staff of the Federal Communications Commission. Applications must be made in advance through the convention committee.

Visiting radio operators may obtain directions to the convention and other metropolitan area locations by calling the Jefferson club's station, W5GAD, on the VHF club's repeater on 146.34-34.1 MHz.

Leon Lessard, WB5ZED, convention chairman, said that the hamfest-computerfest is being renamed Amacom this year to briefly describe the amateur radio communications and computer purposes of the annual meeting.

The entrance fee is $5 in advance and $6 at the door for radio amateurs and computer hobbyists and $1 for each family member younger than 12. The luau will be $12 per person and flea market spaces $3 per table.

Additional information and reservations may be obtained by writing Amacom-78, P.O. Box 10111, Jefferson, La.

Review

Bay St. Louis

"WOMEN AND THE CRISIS IN SEX HORMONES"
To be published this September for the first time in paperback, WOMEN AND
THE CRISIS IN SEX HOR-MONES is a complete handbook on birth control, the problems of "DES daughters," and more.
WOMEN AND THE CRISIS IN SEX HORMONES is written by feminist health care writer Barbara Seaman (author of The Doctors' Case

Against the Pill and Free and Female) and her husband,
Gideon Seaman, M.D.

Among the Seamans' achievements in female health care are a citation to Barbara Seaman from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare as the author responsible for the first patient package insert on the pill, and recognition of Gideon Seaman as one of the first psychiatrists to recognize that the pill causes widespread personality changes, including depression.

Among information in this comprehensive book is:
Oral contraceptives: Side effects, How to recover from the pill, and Help for post-pill menstrual problems.

The DES story: How DES has caused vaginal cancer, How 1 in 3 "DES sons" may be sterile, and How American consumers are being fed the hormone daily.

Alternatives to the pill: The dangers and advantages of the IUD, An updated look at the diaphragm and other barrier devices, and How the pharmaceutical companies may be compromising the health of women in favor of increased profit.

Contraception for Men.
Natural Remedies for Menopausal Problems.

A former Advanced Science Writing Fellow at Columbia University, Barbara Seaman was cited by the Library of Congress as the author who raised sexism in health care as a world-wide issue.

One of the founders of the women's health movement, Barbara Seaman has written for such publications as Ladies' Home Journal, Woman's Day, the New York Times, Washington Post and Ms.

Dr. Gideon Seaman is now Director of Graduate Medical Education and Director of Psychopharmacology at Creedmoor Psychiatric Center in New York.

The Ole Pastor Says

GOD WITHIN YOU. The inner consciousness of God's Spirit within you is your greatest single resource for living. When God becomes a vital part of your inner life and you are dedicated to doing His will, you will then, and not before then, become a different person.

"If any man be in Christ, he is a new creature." This is a universal fact of man's history on all levels of culture. God within a person does something for that individual which no other power does.

God within you gives courage and patience to live your best even under life's most unfavorable circumstances. When you fail to reach a desired high goal of endeavor, God gives you renewed incentive to keep on trying with all your might - knowing that a winner never quits!

God within you gives you strength to endure scorn and all kinds of criticism when you know you are doing a good work. God inspires you to live on high levels and maintain high standards when you are pulled by impulse or human influence to drop to lower levels.

God within you supplies the needed comfort in sorrow; and stability and poise in the complexities of misfortune. He gives you power and the necessary motivation to go on living when others are giving up.

God within you moves you to express forgiveness and good will instead of hate and malice. Where there is a lack of concern for others, God creates a vital sense of obligation and concern for them. The apostle Paul expressed it like this: "I am a debtor both to the Greeks, and to the Barbarians; both to the wise, and to the unwise" - Rom. 1:14.

God creates within you happiness today and hope for tomorrow; assurance in the place of uncertainty; meaning in the place of futility; and wings in the place of weights.

Jesus said: "I am the vine, ye are the branches; he that abideth in me, and I in him, the same bringeth forth much fruit: for without me ye can do nothing" - John 15:5.

"For to me to live is Christ..." - Phil. 1:21 - L.S. Walker, D.D.

Switch off the air conditioner pump heater. Most central air conditioners contain a pump or crankcase heater that evaporates the moisture that might get into the compressor. This heater draws 250 watts of power, even when the air conditioner is not in use. Most of these heaters draw between 50 and 75 watts of power, which means an added electrical charge of about $20 for all of the months when the machine sits idle. To turn off the heater during the winter, merely switch off the air condi-
